

KEY TO AUSTRALIA MORTGAGE AND FINANCE DISCLAIMER

The information contained in this email and on our website, is of a general nature and should be used for reference purposes only. While every effort is made to keep this website accurate and current, Key to Australia reserves the right to change the information without notice and makes no guarantee as to the accuracy and currency of interest rates or other product information from third parties e.g. banks and finance institutions referenced in this email or on our website. Details of current terms and conditions, fees and charges are available from Key to Australia, by emailing or calling us. The advice contained herein and on our website, has not taken into account your personal objectives, financial situation or needs. Before acting upon any advice, consider whether it is appropriate for your individual circumstances.